IV. ACCOUNTING POLICIES APPLIED WHEN PREPARING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Basis for the preparation of financial statements

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the historical cost convention, except for derivative instruments.

The presentation currency of these financial statements is the Polish zloty (PLN), and all figures are presented in thousands of zlotys (PLN'000), unless stated otherwise.

These financial statements have been prepared on a going-concern basis, assuming the Company will continue its business activities in the foreseeable future.

Till the date of approving these financial statements, we have not observed any circumstances that would threaten the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for at least 12 months after the reporting period.

2. Compliance statement

These financial statements have been prepared in compliance with the International Financial Reporting Standards as endorsed by the European Union.

3. Functional currency and reporting currency

The functional currency applied by the Company as well as the reporting currency used in these financial statements is the Polish zloty (PLN).

4. Professional judgement and estimates

Preparation of financial statements in accordance with IFRS requires making estimates and assumptions which have an impact on the data disclosed in such financial statements.

Although the adopted assumptions and estimates have been based on the Company management's best knowledge on the current activities and occurrences, the actual results may differ from those anticipated.

Presented below are the main areas which, in the process of applying our accounting policies, were subject not only to accounting estimates but also to the management's professional judgement, and whose estimates, if changed, could significantly affect the Company's future results.

i. Rates of depreciation and amortization

The level of depreciation and amortization rates is determined on the basis of anticipated period of useful economic life of the components of tangible and intangible assets. The Company verifies the adopted periods of useful life on an annual basis, taking into account the current estimates.

ii. Impairment testing of goodwill

As at 31 December 2017, the Company's Management Board performed an impairment test on goodwill arising from the merger with ITD Poland in 2012. This task required making estimates of the recoverable amount of goodwill. The recoverable amount was estimated by determination of the future cash flows expected to be achieved from the cash-generating unit and determination of a discount rate to be subsequently used in order to calculate the net present value of those cash flows.

The discount rate applied in the model was 11.3%; whereas, sales revenue growth was assumed at the rate of 10.5%.

Goodwill arising from the merger amounted to PLN 4,567 thousand both as at 31 December 2017 and 31 December 2016. Any reasonable modification of the key assumptions adopted in the model should not indicate any impairment of goodwill.

iii. Deferred tax assets

As at 31 December 2017, the Company recognized deferred tax assets in the amount of PLN 87 thousand (vs. PLN 416 thousand as at 31 December 2016). In the period of 12 months ended 31 December 2017, the value of deferred tax assets changed by PLN 329 thousand, as compared with the change of PLN 38 thousand in the comparable period of 2016.

Based on the current financial budget and applicable tax regulations, the Company's management believes that future utilization of deferred tax assets recognized in the Company's financial statements in the amount of PLN 87 thousand is very likely.

iv. Impairment of financial assets

At the end of every reporting period, the Company carries out a valuation of its assets concerning possible impairment. Should there be any indications of impairment, the Company shall estimate the recoverable amount of an investment. The recoverable amount is estimated by determination of the future cash flows expected to be achieved from the cash-generating unit and determination of a discount rate to be subsequently used in order to calculate the net present value of those cash flows. Impairment tests carried out on our investments as at 31 December 2017 have been described in explanatory note 11 to these financial statements.

5. Changes in the accounting policies applied

The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of this report are consistent with those followed when preparing the financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2016.

No new or amended standards and interpretations effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2016 have been issued since 1 January 2016.

6. New standards and interpretations published but not in force yet

The following standards and interpretations were issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) and International Financial Reporting Interpretations Committee (IFRIC), but have not yet come into force:

- IFRS 9 Financial Instruments (issued on 24 July 2014) – effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2018;

The specified effective dates have been set forth in the standards published by the International Accounting Standards Board. The actual dates of adopting these standards in the European Union may differ from those set forth in the standards and they shall be announced once they are approved for application by the European Union.

The following paragraphs provide a description of the implementation of IFRS 9, IFRS 15, and IFRS 16. The Management Board is currently analyzing the impact of other amendments on the Group's financial statements and financial position.

7. IFRS 9, IFRS 15, IFRS 16

IFRS 9 Financial Instruments

In July 2014, the International Accounting Standards Board issued the International Financial Reporting Standard 9 Financial Instruments ("IFRS 9"). IFRS 9 specifies three aspects involved in accounting for financial instruments: classification and measurement, impairment, and hedge accounting. IFRS 9 is effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2018, with early adoption permitted.

The Company intends to adopt IFRS 9 as of its effective date, without restatement of the comparable data.

In 2017, the Company carried out an assessment of the impact of IFRS 9 on the accounting policies applied by the Company with regard to its business operations or financial results. This assessment is based on currently available information and may be subject to changes if additional reasonable and supportable information is obtained during the period when IFRS 9 is applied by the Company for the first time.

The Company does not expect a significant impact of the introduction of IFRS 9 on the statement of financial position or on its equity. Application of this standard will not cause any changes in the classification of our financial instruments.

IFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers

The International Financial Reporting Standard 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers ("IFRS 15"), which was issued in May 2014 and subsequently amended in April 2016, provides the so-called Five-Step Model for revenue recognition in contracts with customers. According to IFRS 15, revenue shall be recognized in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for transferring goods or services to customers.

The new standard will replace all existing requirements for revenue recognition in compliance with IFRS. This standard applies to annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 January 2018. Earlier application is permitted.

In 2017, the Company carried out a detailed assessment of the impact of adopting IFRS 15 on the accounting policies applied by the Company with regard to its business operations or financial results. This assessment is based on currently available information and may be subject to changes if additional reasonable and supportable information is obtained during the period when IFRS 15 is applied by the Company for the first time.

Asseco South Eastern Europe S.A. intends to adopt this new standard as of the required effective date, thus it will be first applied in our standalone financial statements for the reporting period beginning on 1 January 2018.

According to the transition guidance provided in the standard, entities are allowed to choose from two methods for the presentation of comparable data:

- a) retrospective approach to each prior period reported in compliance with IAS 8, or
- b) retrospective approach while recognizing the cumulative effect of applying the new standard as at the date of its initial application.

The Company will apply the modified retrospective approach described in item b), which involves recognition of an adjustment to the opening balance of retained earnings in the financial statements for reporting periods starting from 1 January 2018 onwards. Under this approach, the principles established by the new standard will only apply to contracts that, in accordance with IFRS 15, meet the definition of being not yet complete when the standard is first applied, i.e. as at 1 January 2018.

The Company generates revenues from the sale of IT services and software as well as from holding activities. The IT services segment includes revenues resulting from the implementation of authentication solutions (banking) and voice automation solutions (systems integration). Such revenues are generated in three main areas: sale of own services (including basically implementation and modification, and subsequently maintenance services), sale of third-party services and licenses, as well as sale of hardware and related services. The holding activities segment includes revenues related to managing the Group. The segment's revenues comprise primarily dividends and sales of business and technical support services to the Company's subsidiaries.

As part of preparations to implement this new standard, following the criteria of distinct goods and services, the Company has analyzed its revenue streams in order to identify possible types of performance obligations under the Company's existing contracts, and has also indicated if and how the new regulations are going to change the method of revenue recognition for each of these obligations.

Revenues from own services are recognized by the Company using the percentage of completion method, in correspondence with item "Receivables from valuation of IT contracts". As for the impact of new regulations on the accounting for long-term IT contracts, in the Company's opinion, revenues which, according to the current principles, are recognized on a cost-to-cost basis, will be suitable to be recognized in the same way. This is due to the fact that under contracts that are presently in the scope of IAS 11, the Company in principle undertakes to perform obligations which do not create assets with an alternative use to the Company. Concurrently, the analysis carried out so far showed that the majority of such contracts most probably meet the criterion of granting an enforceable right to payment for obligations performed. If the conclusion about the existence of an enforceable right to payment was different, it should be considered that also the method of revenue recognition for such contracts would be changed. As a result of the adoption of IFRS 15, "Receivables from valuation of IT contracts" will be presented under "Contract assets".

As far as revenue from own services is concerned, the conducted analysis showed that revenues from the provision of own services (primarily maintenance services) that are recognized by the Company over time in accordance with the current principles, will also be accounted for in the same way after the adoption of IFRS 15. This is because the Company has concluded that the customer simultaneously receives and consumes the benefits resulting from the provision of such services as they are performed by the provider, and therefore such revenues can be recognized over time. The same approach is applied to third-party maintenance services.

The company does not sell its own licenses. Recognition of revenue from third-party licenses will be each time subject to the analysis of contractual provisions in order to determine whether a third-party license is just resold and thereby the performance obligation is satisfied at the point in time at which control of the licence is transferred to the customer, or whether (if at all) such a license can be part of a bigger whole and should be treated as a component of a larger performance obligation. It is anticipated that the approach to recognition of license revenues will not be substantially changed.

Revenues from the last group mentioned at the beginning of this paragraph, i.e. the sale of hardware and related services which are not part of a complex infrastructure project (sale of a comprehensive system where well-functioning infrastructure is one of the key elements of the project) will be recognized on an analogous basis as today, i.e.: equipment – at the moment of transferring control to the customer, equipment-related services – according to the percentage of completion method.

In the case of revenues from holding activities, comprising dividends as well as sales of business and technical support services to our subsidiaries which are accounted for by hours actually worked, the Company has not identified any change in the approach to revenue recognition.

To sum up, at the time of publication of this report, the Company does not expect any significant impact of the new standard; however, the work on its implementation and impact assessment will be continued in the first quarter of 2018.

IFRS 16 Leases

In January 2016, the International Accounting Standards Board issued the International Financial Reporting Standard 16 Leases ("IFRS 16") that replaced IAS 17 Leases, IFRIC 4 Determining Whether an Arrangement Contains a Lease, SIC-15 Operating Leases – Incentives, SIC-27 Evaluating the Substance of Transactions in the Legal Form of a Lease. IFRS 16 establishes principles for the recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of leases.

IFRS 16 provides a single lessee accounting model, requiring lessees to recognize assets and liabilities for all leases with a lease term of more than 12 months, unless the underlying asset has a low value. Upon lease commencement, a lessee shall recognize a right-of-use of underlying asset and a lease liability representing the obligation to make lease payments.

The lessee shall separately recognize depreciation of the right-of-use asset as well as interest on the lease liability.

The lease liability shall be subsequently remeasured upon certain events, e.g. changes in the lease term, changes in future lease payments resulting from a change in an index or a rate used to determine those payments. As a general rule, a remeasurement of the lease liability shall be recognized by the lessee as an adjustment to the right-of-use asset.

The Company is a lessee in the case of lease agreements for office space.

Accounting by lessors under IFRS 16 remained substantially unchanged from the approach required by IAS 17. Lessors will continue to treat all lease agreements according to the same criteria as specified in IAS 17, hence each lease shall be classified as an operating lease or a finance lease.

Both lessees and lessors are required to make broader disclosures under IFRS 16 than in the case of IAS 17.

A lessee may choose to apply the standard with full or modified retrospective approach, as the transition provisions provide for some practical expedients.

IFRS 16 is effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2019. Earlier application is permitted if an entity has also applied IFRS 15 from the date of first application of IFRS 16 or before. The Company has not decided on early adoption of IFRS 16.

As at the date of approving these financial statements for publication, the Management has not yet fully assessed the impact of adopting IFRS 16 on the accounting policies applied by the Company with regard to its business operations or financial results.

8. Significant accounting policies

i. Translation of items expressed in foreign currencies

Transactions denominated in currencies other than Polish zloty are translated to Polish zlotys at the mid exchange rate published by the National Bank of Poland and in effect on the day preceding the transaction date.

As at the end of the reporting period, assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than Polish zloty are translated to Polish zlotys at the mid exchange rates of such currencies as published by the National Bank of Poland and in effect on the last day of the reporting period. Foreign exchange differences resulting from such translation are reported respectively as financial income (expenses) or they may be capitalized as assets if so provided in the adopted accounting policies. Non-cash assets and liabilities carried at historical cost expressed in a foreign currency are disclosed the historical exchange rate of the transaction date. Non-cash assets and liabilities carried at fair value expressed in a foreign currency are reported at the exchange rate from the date when fair value measurement was carried out.

The following exchange rates were applied for the purpose of balance sheet valuation:

Currency	As at 31 Dec. 2017	As at 31 Dec. 2016
USD	3.4813	4.1793

BAM	2.1728	2.2371
TRY	1.0295	1.3109

ii. Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are disclosed at purchase cost/production cost decreased by accumulated depreciation and all impairment write-downs. The initial value of a tangible asset corresponds to its purchase cost increased by expenditures related directly to the purchase and adaptation of such asset to its intended use. Such expenditures may also include the cost of replacing parts of machinery or equipment at the time that cost is incurred if the recognition criteria are met. Any costs incurred after a tangible asset is made available for use, such as maintenance or repair fees, are expensed in the income statement at the time when incurred.

At the time of purchase tangible assets are divided into components of significant value for which separate periods of useful life may be adopted. General overhaul expenses constitute a component of assets as well.

Such assets are depreciated using the straight-line method over their expected useful lives which are as follows:

Type	Period of useful life
Buildings and structures	40 years
Leasehold improvements	5 years
Computers and telecommunication equipment	1-5 years
Furniture	2-8 years
Office equipment	5-10 years
Transportation vehicles	4-6 years
Other tangible assets	2-5 years

The residual values, useful lives as well as the methods of depreciation of tangible assets are verified on an annual basis and, if necessary, corrected with effect as of the beginning of the financial year just ended.

Should there be any events or changes indicating that the book value of property, plant and equipment may not be recovered, such assets will be reviewed for their possible impairment. If there are any indications of a possible impairment and the book value exceeds the estimated recoverable amount, the value of such assets or cash-generating units shall be reduced to the recoverable amount. The recoverable amount of property, plant and equipment is the greater of their fair value less costs to sell or their value in use. In order to determine the value in use, estimated future cash flows shall be discounted to the present value by applying a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks related to the asset. In case of an asset which does not generate cash independently, the recoverable amount shall be determined for the cash-generating unit, to which such asset belongs. Impairment write-downs are accounted for as operating expenses in the income statement.

A tangible asset may be derecognized from the balance sheet after it is disposed of or when no economic benefits are expected from its further use. Gain/loss on disposal of a tangible fixed asset shall be assessed by comparing the income from such disposal with the present book value of such asset, and it shall be accounted for as operating income/expense. Any gains or losses resulting from derecognition of an asset from the balance sheet (measured as the difference between net proceeds from disposal of such asset and its carrying value) are recognized in the income statement for the period when such derecognition is made.

Investments in progress relate to tangible assets under construction or during assembly and are recognized at purchase cost or production cost, decreased by any eventual impairment write-downs. Tangible assets under construction are not depreciated until their construction is completed and they are made available for use.

iii. Intangible assets

Intangible assets purchased in a separate transaction or generated (if qualifying to be recognized as cost of development work) shall be initially recognized at their purchase cost or production cost. The purchase cost of intangible assets acquired under a business combination shall equal their fair value as at the merger date. After initial recognition, intangible assets are accounted for at their purchase cost or production cost decreased by accumulated amortization and impairment charges. Expenditures for internally generated intangible assets, except for the costs of development work, shall not be capitalized but expensed in the period when they are incurred.

The Company shall determine whether the period of useful life of an intangible asset is definite or indefinite. Intangible assets with a definite period of useful life are amortized over the expected useful life, and are subject to impairment testing each time there are indications of possible impairment. The periods and methods of amortization of intangible assets with a definite period of useful life are subject to verification at least at the end of each financial year. Any changes in the expected useful life, or the expected consumption of economic benefits derived from an intangible asset, are addressed by changing the relevant period or method of amortization, and are treated as changes in estimates. Amortization charges against intangible assets with a definite period of useful life are expensed in the income statement, in the category which corresponds to the function of each individual intangible asset.

Intangible assets with an indefinite period of useful life, as well as those which are no longer used, are subject to impairment testing on an annual basis, with regard to individual assets or at the level of cash-generating unit.

The useful lives are verified on an annual basis and, if necessary, corrected with effect as of the beginning of the financial year just ended.

Such assets are depreciated using the straight-line method over their expected useful lives which are as follows:

Type	Period of useful life
Cost of development work	3-5 years
Computer software	2-5 years
Patents and licenses	2-5 years
Other	5 years

Any gains or losses resulting from derecognition of an intangible asset from the statement of financial position (measured as the difference between net proceeds from disposal of such asset and its carrying value) are recognized in the income statement at the time when such derecognition is made.

iv. Impairment of non-financial assets

At the end of every reporting period, the Company carries out a valuation of its assets concerning possible impairment. Should there be any indications of impairment, the Company shall estimate the recoverable amount of an investment. If the book value of a given asset exceeds its recoverable amount, impairment charges are made reducing the book value to the level of recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of the following two values: fair value of an asset or cash-generating unit less costs to sell, or value in use determined for an asset if such asset generates cash flows significantly independent from cash flows generated by other assets or groups of assets or cash-generating units.

At the end of each reporting period, the Company determines whether there are any indications for reversal or reduction of an impairment charge that was recognized on a given asset in the prior periods. If such indications exist, the Company needs to estimate the recoverable amount of the relevant asset. A formerly recognized impairment charge may be reversed only when estimates applied for determination of the recoverable amount of the relevant asset have changed since the time of the last recognition of impairment. If this is the case, the carrying value of such asset shall be increased to its recoverable amount. The increased amount cannot exceed the given asset's book value (net of depreciation) that would be carried in case no impairment charge was recognized on such asset in the prior years. A reversal of an impairment charge shall be immediately recognized as income in the income statement. Following a reversal of an impairment write-down, the depreciation charges made on the relevant asset during subsequent financial periods shall be adjusted in such a way as to enable systematic depreciation of the asset's verified book value (net of residual value) over the remaining period of its useful life.

v. Shares in subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures

Subsidiary companies are those entities which are controlled by the Company. The Company, irrespective of the nature of its involvement with a given entity, in each case analyzes whether it is a parent taking into account the influence it exerts on such entity.

The Company maintains control over an investee entity if and only if it has:

- Power over the investee;
- Exposure, or rights, to variable financial results of the investee; and
- The ability to use power over the investee to affect the amount of returns generated from its investment.

Associates are entities in which the Company holds between 20% and 50% of voting rights at the general meeting of shareholders and on which the Company exerts a significant influence, however, without the ability to control them. This means they are neither subsidiaries nor joint ventures.

Joint ventures are entities that are neither subsidiaries nor associates, in which the Company holds no more than 50% of voting rights at the general meeting, or is otherwise able to direct the financial and operating policy of such entities together with other shareholders.

The Company's investments in subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates are recognized at purchase cost. At the end of every reporting period, the Company verifies its investments in related companies concerning the indications of possible impairment. Furthermore, at the end of each financial year the Company estimates the recoverable amount of its financial assets by analyzing and measuring the future cash flows to be generated by such assets.

vi. Combinations of businesses under common control

A business combination involving business entities under common control is a business combination whereby all of the combining business entities are ultimately controlled by the same party or parties, both before and after the business combination, and that control is not transitory.

This refers in particular to transactions such as a transfer of companies or ventures between individual companies within a capital group, or a merger of a parent company with its subsidiary.

The effects of combinations of businesses under common control are accounted for by the Company by the pooling of interests method.

In particular, as far as the Company's mergers with its subsidiaries are concerned, the applied approach assumes that:

- Assets and liabilities of the combining business entities are measured at their carrying values as disclosed in the consolidated financial statements of the parent determined as at the date of obtaining control. This means that goodwill previously recognized in the consolidated financial statements as well as any other intangible assets recognized in the merger accounting process, are transferred to the standalone financial statements and their values are tested for impairment on a periodic basis;
- Merger-related transaction costs are expensed in the income statement;
- Mutual balances of accounts receivable/payable are eliminated;
- Any difference between the purchase price paid/transferred and the value of net assets acquired (at their carrying values disclosed in the consolidated financial statements) shall be recognized in equity of the acquirer (such amounts recognized in equity are not included in reserve capital, and therefore they are not distributable);
- The income statement presents the financial results of both combined entities from the date when their merger was effected; whereas, the results for earlier reporting periods are not restated.

In the event of a business combination in which an investment in one subsidiary is contributed to another subsidiary or in which two subsidiaries of ASEE S.A. are combined, the carrying value of investment in the acquiree subsidiary is only transferred to the value of investment in the acquirer subsidiary. Hence, a takeover of one subsidiary by another subsidiary has no impact on the Company's financial results whatsoever.

Where under an acquisition of a subsidiary the acquirer recognizes a conditional payment, any changes in the fair value of such conditional consideration occurring after the acquisition date shall be recognized as financial income or expenses.

vii. Financial instruments

Financial instruments are divided into the following categories:

- Financial assets held to maturity,
- Financial instruments carried at fair value through profit or loss,
- Loans and receivables,
- Financial assets available for sale, and
- Financial liabilities.

All the financial assets are initially recognized at purchase cost equal to fair value of the effected payment, including the costs related to the purchase of a financial asset, except for financial instruments carried at fair value through profit or loss.

Financial assets held to maturity are investments with fixed or determinable payments and with fixed maturity that the Company intends and is able to hold until maturity. Financial assets held to maturity are carried at amortized cost using the effective interest rate. Financial assets held to maturity shall be classified as fixed assets if their maturity exceeds 12 months from the end of a reporting period.

Financial instruments acquired in order to generate profits by taking advantage of short-term price fluctuations shall be classified as financial instruments carried at fair value through profit or loss. Financial instruments carried at fair value through profit or loss are measured at their market value as at the end of the reporting period. Changes in the values of such financial instruments are recognized as financial income or expenses. Financial assets carried at fair value through profit or loss shall be classified as current assets if the Management Board intends to sell them within 12 months from the end of a reporting period.

Loans granted and receivables are carried at amortized cost. They are recognized as current assets unless their maturity periods are longer than 12 months from the end of a reporting period. Loans granted and receivables with maturity periods longer than 12 months from the end of a reporting period are recognized as fixed assets.

Any other financial assets constitute financial assets available for sale. Financial assets available for sale are carried at fair value, without deducting the transaction-related costs, taking into consideration their market value as at the end of the reporting period. If financial instruments are not quoted on an active market and it is impossible to determine their fair value reliably with alternative methods, such financial assets available for sale shall be measured at purchase cost adjusted by impairment charges. Any positive or negative differences between the fair value of financial assets available for sale and their purchase cost (on condition the price of such assets is determined in a regulated active market or their fair value can be measured in another reliable way), shall be recognized net of deferred tax in other comprehensive income. A decrease in the value of assets available for sale, resulting from their impairment, shall be disclosed as a financial expense in the income statement.

Purchases or disposals of financial assets are recognized in the accounting books at the transaction date. At the initial recognition they are measured at purchase cost, this is at fair value plus the transaction-related costs.

Financial liabilities other than financial instruments carried at fair value through profit or loss, are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest rate.

A financial instrument shall be derecognized from the balance sheet if the Company no longer controls the contractual rights arising from such financial instrument; this usually takes place when the instrument is sold or when all cash flows generated by that instrument are transferred to an independent third party.

viii. Derivative financial instruments and hedges

Derivative instruments utilized by the Company in order to hedge against the risk of changes in foreign currency exchange rates include primarily currency forward contracts. Such financial derivatives are measured at fair value. Derivative instruments are recognized as assets if their value is positive, or as liabilities if their value is negative.

Gains and losses on changes in fair value of derivatives, which do not qualify for hedge accounting, are recognized directly in profit or loss for the financial year.

Fair value of currency forward contracts is determined on the basis of the forward exchange rates available currently for contracts with similar maturity.

ix. Impairment of financial assets

At the end of each reporting period, the Company determines if there are any objective indications of impairment of a financial asset or group of financial assets.

Financial assets carried at amortized cost

If there is objective evidence that an impairment loss on loans granted or receivables carried at amortized cost has been incurred, the amount of an allowance is measured as the difference between the asset's book value and the present value of estimated future cash flows (excluding future bad debt losses that have not been incurred yet) discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate (i.e. the effective interest rate computed at initial recognition). The carrying value of such assets shall be reduced either directly or by recognizing an impairment write-down. The amount of the loss shall be recognized in the income statement.

The Company first assesses whether objective evidence of impairment exists individually for financial assets that are individually significant, and individually or collectively for financial assets that are not individually significant. If the Company determines that no objective evidence of impairment exists for an individually assessed financial asset, whether significant or not, it includes the asset in a group of financial assets with similar credit risk characteristics and collectively assesses them for impairment. Assets that are assessed for impairment individually, and for which an impairment loss is or continues to be recognized, are not included in the collective assessment of impairment of a group of assets.

If, in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognized, the previously recognized impairment loss shall be reversed. Such reversal of the impairment write-down shall be recognized in profit or loss to the extent that the carrying value of the financial asset does not exceed its amortized cost at the date when the impairment is reversed.

Financial assets carried at cost

If there is objective evidence that an impairment loss has been incurred on an unquoted equity instrument that is not carried at fair value because its fair value cannot be reliably measured, or on a derivative instrument that is linked to and must be settled by delivery of such an unquoted equity instrument, the amount of impairment loss is measured as the difference between the carrying value of the financial asset involved and the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the current market rate of return for similar financial assets.

Financial assets available for sale

When there is objective evidence that a financial asset available for sale is impaired, then the amount of difference between the purchase cost of such asset (net of any principal repayments and amortization) and its current value decreased by any impairment charges on that financial asset as previously recognized in profit or loss, shall be removed from equity and recognized in the income statement. Reversals of impairment losses on equity instruments classified as available for sale cannot be recognized in the income statement. If, in a subsequent period, the fair value of a debt instrument classified as available for sale increases and the increase can be objectively related to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognized in profit or loss, then the amount of such impairment loss shall be reversed in the income statement.

x. Inventories

Inventories are measured at the lower of the following two values: purchase cost/production cost or net realizable value. Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business less the estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale. The Company uses the method of precise identification for valuation of outgoing inventories.

The Company is obliged to perform an ageing analysis of their inventories at the end of each reporting period, separately for the main groups (licenses, goods for resale, maintenance service inventories). Such analysis provides the rationale for making impairment write-downs on tangible current assets subject to the following rules:

- 100% write-down on goods stored for longer than 2 years,
- 75% write-down on goods stored for between 1.5 and 2 years,
- 50% write-down on goods stored for between 1 and 1.5 years,
- 25% write-down on goods stored for between half a year and 1 year.

The initial value of service parts is expensed on a straight-line basis over the duration of the maintenance service contract, for which such parts have been purchased.

Every year the Company verifies whether the adopted principles for recognition of write-downs correspond to the actual impairment of its inventories.

Write-downs on inventories shall be recognized as operating expenses.

xi. Prepayments and accrued income

Prepayments comprise expenses incurred before the end of the reporting period that relate to future periods.

Prepayments may in particular include the following items:

- Rents paid in advance,
- Insurances,
- Subscriptions,
- Prepaid third-party services which shall be provided in future periods,
- Any other expenses incurred in the current period, but related to future periods.

Accrued income includes mainly maintenance services relating to future periods. The Company recognizes prepayments and accrued income if their amounts relate to future reporting periods.

xii. Trade receivables and other receivables

Trade receivables are recognized and disclosed at the amounts initially invoiced, less any allowances for doubtful receivables. Receivables with remote payment terms are recognized at the present value of expected payments.

Allowances for doubtful receivables are estimated when it is no longer probable that the entire amount of original receivables will be collected. The amount of allowances represents the difference between the nominal amount of receivables and their recoverable amount, which corresponds to the net present value of expected cash flows discounted using the interest rate applicable to similar debtors. Doubtful receivables are expensed as operating costs at the time when they are deemed uncollectible.

Receivables are revaluated taking into account the probabilities of their collection, by making allowances for:

- receivables from debtors who went into liquidation or bankruptcy - up to the amount receivable not covered by any guarantee or other collateral, reported to the liquidator or magistrate in bankruptcy proceedings;

- receivables from debtors in case the declaration of bankruptcy is dismissed and the debtor's assets are insufficient to satisfy the costs of bankruptcy proceedings – in full amount receivable;
- receivables disputed by debtors and past-due where, following an assessment of the debtor's property and financial condition, collection of full contractual amounts is unlikely – up to the amount receivable not covered by any guarantee or other collateral;
- receivables that constitute an increase of other receivables subject to prior allowances – in full amount receivable until they are received or written-off as uncollectible;
- past-due (or not yet due) receivables, where it is highly probable they will become uncollectible because of the type of business or structure of customers – in the amount of reliably measured or full allowance for doubtful receivables.

Furthermore, the minimum levels of allowances for receivables as recognized by the Company are:

- 100% in relation to receivables in litigation, unless the Management Board believes that obtaining a favourable judgment by the Company is almost certain;
- 100% in relation to receivables past-due over 12 months (from the payment deadline), taking into account any partial payments or arrangements made after the end of the reporting period;
- 50% in relation to receivables past-due between 6 and 12 months (from the payment deadline), taking into account any partial payments or arrangements made after the end of the reporting period.

When deciding on any allowances, the Group takes into consideration not only events that took place before the end of the reporting period, but also later events that took place prior to the preparation of financial statements if such events are related to receivables carried in the books as at the end of the reporting period. Every year the Company verifies whether the adopted principles for recognition of allowances correspond to the actual impairment of its receivables.

Allowances for trade receivables are recognized as operating expenses. Allowances for other receivables are recognized as other operating expenses. Allowances for accrued interest receivable are recognized as financial expenses.

If the cause for recognition of an allowance is no longer valid, such allowance shall be reversed, in the whole amount or in appropriate portion, being recognized as an increase in the value of a relevant asset or as an adjustment to respective cost items.

xiii. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents presented in the balance sheet consist of cash kept in banks and on hand by the Company, short-term bank deposits with maturities not exceeding 3 months, and other highly liquid instruments.

The balance of cash and cash equivalents disclosed in the statement of cash flows consists of the above-defined cash and cash equivalents. For the purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company decided not to include bank overdraft facilities (used as an element of financing) in the balance of cash and cash equivalents.

xiv. Interest-bearing bank loans and borrowings

All bank loans, borrowings and debt securities are initially recognized at their purchase cost, being the fair value of cash received net of any costs associated with obtaining a bank loan or borrowing, or with issuing debt securities.

Subsequently to initial recognition, bank loans, borrowings and debt securities are measured at amortized purchase cost using the effective interest rate. Determination of the amortized cost shall take into account the costs related to obtaining a bank loan or borrowing, or issuing debt securities, as well as any discounts or bonuses obtained on repayment of the liability.

The difference between the amount of cash received (net of any costs related to obtaining a bank loan or borrowing, or issuing debt securities) and the amount to be repaid shall be disclosed in the income statement over the term of such financing. Any gains or losses shall be recognized in the income statement after the liability has been removed from the balance sheet. All expenses relating to bank loans, borrowings or debt securities issued, shall be recognized in the income statement for the period they relate to.

xv. Trade payables

Trade payables relating to operating activities are recognized and disclosed at the amounts due for payment, and are recognized in the reporting periods which they relate to. Other liabilities to a significant extent also relate to operating activities yet, in contrast to trade payables, they were not invoiced.

Where the effect of the time value of money is material, the amount of payables shall be measured by discounting the expected future cash flows to their present value, using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money. Where discounting method is used, the increase in liabilities due to the passage of time is recognized as a financial expense.

xvi. Provisions

A provision should be recognized when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, and when it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. Where the Company expects that the expenditure required to settle a provision is to be reimbursed, e.g. under an insurance contract, this reimbursement should be recognized as a separate asset when, and only when, it is virtually certain that such reimbursement will be received. The expense relating to such provision shall be disclosed in the income statement, net of the amount of any reimbursements.

The Company recognizes provisions for onerous contracts in which the unavoidable costs of meeting the obligations under the contract exceed the economic benefits expected to be received therefrom.

Where the effect of the time value of money is material, the amount of a provision shall be determined by discounting the expected future cash flows to their present value, using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks related to the liability. Where discounting method is used, the increase in a provision due to the passage of time is recognized as borrowing costs.

xvii. Revenues

Sales revenues

Sales revenues are recognized if the amount of revenue can be reliably measured and if it is highly probable that economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Group.

Should it be impossible to reliably estimate the amount of revenue from a service transaction, such revenue shall only be recognized in the amount of costs incurred which the Group expects to recover. The Group identifies the following types of revenues:

- Revenues from the sale of proprietary licenses and services,
- Revenues from the sale of third-party licenses and services, and
- Revenues from the sale of hardware.

The category of "Proprietary licenses and services" includes revenues from contracts with customers under which we supply our own software and provide related services. Such services may be performed by the Company's employees (internal resources) as well as by subcontractors (external resources). In addition, this category includes revenues from the provision of own services for third-party software and infrastructure.

The category of "Third-party licenses and services" includes revenues from the sale of third-party licenses as well as from the provision of services which, due to technological or legal reasons, must be carried out by subcontractors (this applies to hardware and software maintenance and outsourcing services provided by their manufacturers).

Revenues from the sale of own software licenses and/or services, which are supplied/rendered under an implementation contract, shall be recognized proportionally to the completion of the entire contract.

In the case of other own software licenses and/or services, revenues are recognized in the period in which the Group expects to be required to provide such services to the client. Revenues from the sale of third-party software licenses and/or services may be recognized as sales of goods or as sales of services, depending on the nature of the contract with the client.

In the case of third-party software licenses and/or services for which the significant risks and rewards of ownership are transferred to the buyer at the time of the sale, revenues are recognized as sales of goods, this is in a lump sum at the time of the sale, regardless of whether a third-party license and/or service is provided for a specified or unspecified period of time. The Group considers that significant risks are transferred to the buyer when, after the delivery of a license/service, the Group is not obligated to provide any additional benefits to the client.

In other cases, i.e. when after the delivery of a license/service, the Group is obligated to provide additional benefits to the client, revenues are recognized as sales of services, this is over a period in which such services are performed and proportionally to the completion of the entire transaction.

Revenues from the sale of hardware are recognized as sales of goods, provided that the significant risks and rewards resulting from a contract have been transferred to the buyer and the amount of revenue can be measured reliably.

Revenues and costs related to the execution of implementation contracts

Revenues from implementation contracts shall include highly probable revenues resulting from the concluded contracts and/or orders, which can be measured reliably. Therefore, the pool of such revenues does not include any proceeds that are considered as doubtful despite being determined in a signed contract (e.g. the Group anticipates that a client may decide to resign from a portion of contracted work).

Contract revenues include the following:

- a. Revenues resulting from issued invoices,
- b. Future revenues resulting from signed agreements and/or orders placed on the basis of framework agreements.

Contract costs include the following:

- a. Costs of goods, materials and third-party services sold (COGS), and
- b. Costs of internal resources being involved in the contract execution.

The costs of internal resources employed in the contract execution are calculated on the basis of actual workload (for ended periods) or estimated workload (for forecast periods), and appropriate standard (cost) rate covering the production costs.

The standard rate corresponds to the cost of man-hour (or man-day) of our own production resources calculated on the basis of production costs budgeted for a given year.

Valuation of implementation contracts

The purpose for valuation of an IT implementation contract is to determine the amount of revenues to be recognized in a given period. The Group performs such valuation using the percentage of completion method.

Should the percentage progress of incurred costs, decreased by expected losses and increased by profits included in the income statement, exceed the percentage progress of invoiced sales, the amount of uninvited sales resulting from such difference shall be disclosed as other receivables in the statement of financial position, under "Receivables arising from valuation of IT contracts". Conversely, if the percentage progress of invoiced sales exceeds the percentage progress of costs incurred, decreased by expected losses and increased by profits included in the income statement, then future-related (unearned) revenues resulting from such difference shall be disclosed as other liabilities, under "Liabilities arising from valuation of IT contracts".

Loss generating contracts

Loss generating contract is a contract, under which total revenues are lower than total costs.

In the event it is highly probable that the total contract execution costs exceed the total contract revenues, the anticipated loss shall be recognized as cost in the reporting period in which it has been detected, by creating a provision for contractual losses. The amount of such provision and/or its legitimacy are subject to verification at each subsequent reporting date, until the completion of the contract.

The amount of created provisions for losses shall increase the balance of other liabilities and be disclosed under "Liabilities arising from valuation of IT contracts".

Methods for measuring the percentage of contract completion

In order to measure the progress of contract completion, the Company applies a variety of methods allowing to reliably determine the percentage of work that has already been executed under the contract. Depending on the contract nature, these methods may include:

- a. determination of the proportion of costs incurred for work performed up to the end of the reporting period to the estimated total contract costs;
- b. measurement of work performed; or
- c. comparison of work performed as a physical proportion of total work under the contract.

The percentage of completion method is applied on a cumulative basis in each accounting period to the current estimates of contract revenues and contract costs. The effects of changes in estimates of contract revenues or contract costs are recognized in the period in which such changes occur.

Combining and segmenting of implementation contracts

Valuation is usually performed on single contracts or contracts with annexes thereto, if such annexes modify the main contract by extending or limiting the subject thereof. In the event an annex represents an additional order, going beyond the subject of the main contract, and the price of such order is determined without reference to the main contract price, such annex shall be valued separately.

When a contract covers a number of elements, the implementation of each element should be treated as a separate contract, only if the following conditions are jointly met:

- a. separate offers have been submitted for each of the identified elements;
- b. each element has been subject to separate negotiations; and
- c. the costs and revenues of each element can be identified – revenues must be specified in the contract and/or order.

Whereas, a group of contracts may be treated as a single contract, if the following conditions are jointly met:

- a. the group of contracts is negotiated as a single package;
- b. the contracts are so closely interrelated that they are, in effect, part of a single project with an overall profit margin; and
- c. the contracts are performed concurrently or in a continuous sequence.

Interest

Interest income shall be recognized on a time proportion basis (taking into account the effective yield, this is the interest rate which accurately discounts future cash flows during the estimated useful life of a financial instrument) on the net book value of a financial asset.

Interest income may comprise interest on loans granted, investments in securities held to maturity, bank deposits and other items.

Dividends

Dividends shall be recognized when the shareholders' right to receive payment is vested.

xviii. Taxes

Current income tax

Liabilities and receivables resulting from current income tax, for the current and prior periods, are measured at the amounts of expected payments to the taxation authorities (or repayments from the taxation authorities), applying the tax rates and tax regulations legally or factually in force at the end of the reporting period.

Deferred income tax

For the purpose of financial reporting, deferred income tax is calculated applying the balance sheet liability method to all temporary differences that exist, at the end of the reporting period, between the tax base of an asset or liability and its carrying value disclosed in the financial statements. Deferred tax liabilities are recognized in relation to all positive temporary differences – except for situations when a deferred tax liability arises from initial recognition of goodwill or initial recognition of an asset or liability on a transaction other than combination of businesses, which at the time of its conclusion has no influence on pre-tax profit, taxable income or tax loss, as well as in relation to positive temporary differences arising from investments in subsidiaries or associates or from interests in joint ventures – except for situations when the investor is able to control the timing of reversal of such temporary differences and when it is probable that such temporary differences will not be reversed in the foreseeable future.

Deferred tax assets are recognized in relation to all negative temporary differences, as well as unutilized tax losses carried forward to subsequent years, in such amount that it is probable that future taxable income will be sufficient to allow the above-mentioned temporary differences, assets or losses to be utilized – except for situations when deferred tax assets arise from initial recognition of an asset or liability on a transaction other than combination of businesses, which at the time of its conclusion has no influence on pre-tax profit, taxable income or tax loss; as well as in relation to negative temporary differences arising from investments in subsidiaries or associates or from interests in joint ventures, in which cases deferred tax assets are recognized in the balance sheet in such amount only that it is probable that the above-mentioned temporary differences will be reversed in the foreseeable future and that sufficient taxable income will be available to offset such negative temporary differences.

The carrying value of an individual deferred tax asset shall be verified at the end of each reporting period and shall be adequately decreased or increased in order to reflect any changes in the estimates of achieving taxable profit sufficient to utilize such deferred tax asset partially or entirely.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities shall be valued using the future tax rates anticipated to be applicable at the time when a deferred tax asset is realized or a deferred tax liability is reversed, based on the tax rates (and tax regulations) legally or factually in force at the end of the reporting period.

Value added tax

Revenues, expenses and assets shall be disclosed in the amounts excluding value added tax unless:

- value added tax paid at the purchase of goods or services is not recoverable from the taxation authorities; in such event the value added tax paid shall be recognized as a part of the purchase cost of an asset or as an expense, and
- receivables and liabilities are presented including value added tax.

Net amount of value added tax which is recoverable from or payable to the taxation authorities shall be included in the balance sheet as a part of receivables or liabilities.

Assessment of uncertainty over tax treatments

If the Company believes it is probable that its tax treatment or a group of tax treatments will be accepted by the taxation authority, then the Company shall determine the taxable profit (tax loss), tax base, unused tax losses, unused tax credits and tax rates consistently with the tax treatment used or planned to be used in its income tax filings.

If the Company concludes it is not probable that its tax treatment or a group of tax treatments will be accepted by the taxation authority, then the Company shall reflect the effect of uncertainty in determining the related taxable profit (tax loss), tax base, unused tax losses, unused tax credits or tax rates. Such effect is reflected by the Company using the following method:

- The Company determines the most likely scenario – the single most likely amount in a range of possible outcomes.

xix. Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share for each reporting period shall be calculated by dividing the net profit for the reporting period by the weighted average number of shares outstanding in the given reporting period. Diluted earnings per share for each reporting period shall be calculated by dividing the net profit for the reporting period by the sum of the weighted average number of shares outstanding in the given reporting period and all potential shares of new issues.

9. Seasonal nature of business

Because we are a holding company, the distribution of our financial results during a fiscal year depends largely on the dates when our subsidiaries adopt resolutions to pay out dividends.

10. Changes in the presentation methods applied

We have not introduced any changes in the presentation of data for the year 2017 as well as for the comparable period.

11. Corrections of material errors

In the reporting period, no events occurred that would require making corrections of any misstatements.

V. INFORMATION ON OPERATING SEGMENTS

The Company's operating activities comprise both holding operations and sales of IT services and software.

The holding activities segment includes revenues and expenses related to managing the Group. The segment's revenues comprise primarily dividends and sales of business and technical support services to the Company's subsidiaries.

The IT services segment includes revenues and expenses related to our information technology operations in two areas: authentication solutions (banking) and voice automation solutions (systems integration).

VI. EXPLANATORY NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Holding activities – Dividend income and service revenues

Operating revenues from holding activities comprise dividends received from subsidiaries as well as revenues from the sale of consulting, business and technical support services which are provided to subsidiaries of ASEE Group. As the Company is primarily engaged in holding operations, the above-mentioned categories of revenues are presented in operating activities.

Dividends from related parties, of which:
ASEE B&H	1,053	917
ASEE Croatia	4,203	2,383
ASEE Macedonia	13,595	-
ASEE Romania	3,389	1,983
ASEE Serbia	8,287	-
30,527	5,283

Dividend income in 2017 was significantly higher than in 2016, because in the previous year our operating companies needed to rebuild their cash positions, following hefty dividend payments that were made by our operating companies in 2015 due to their favourable financial liquidity.

Cash inflows generated from dividends amounted to PLN 27,878 thousand in 2017, as compared with PLN 5,357 thousand received in 2016. The difference between recognized revenues and dividends actually received resulted from the failure of ASEE Romania to pay out its dividend till 31 December 2017, as well as from withholding tax charged by our subsidiaries, and foreign exchange differences.

Financial expenses for the year 2017 include primarily an impairment write-down on our investment in Kosovo (PLN 9,000 thousand), negative foreign exchange differences (PLN 2,256 thousand), and an allowance for receivables resulting from loans granted to ASEE Bulgaria (PLN 751 thousand). Financial expenses for the year 2016 include primarily impairment write-downs on our investments in Kosovo (PLN 9,000 thousand) and in Bulgaria (PLN 4,265 thousand). This has been described in detail in explanatory note 11 to these financial statements.

6. Corporate income tax

The main charges on pre-tax profit resulting from corporate income tax (current and deferred portions):

Deferred income tax related to origination and reversal of temporary differences	(329)	38
Current income tax expense	(858)	(829)
Income tax on dividends	(1,134)	(46)
Adjustments to the prior years' current income tax	(12)	-
Income tax expense as disclosed in the income statement	(2,333)	(837)

Income tax expense for the year 2017 resulted from income tax on current operations amounting to PLN 858 thousand, as well as withholding tax on dividends from our subsidiaries which amounted to PLN 1,134 thousand.

The effective tax rate for the period of 12 months ended 31 December 2017 equalled 10.53%.

The difference between our effective tax rate and the statutory corporate income tax rate of 19% resulted primarily from permanent differences such as tax-exempt dividends (PLN 1,438 thousand), deduction of taxes already paid by our subsidiaries on their dividend distributions (PLN 2,497 thousand), as well as non-tax-deductible expenses (an impairment write-down on investments in the amount of PLN 1,710 thousand, and an allowance for doubtful receivables from loans in the amount of PLN 143 thousand). The above amounts represent the impact of particular events on income tax.

Income tax expense for the year 2016 resulted from income tax on current operations amounting to PLN 829 thousand, as well as withholding tax on dividends from our subsidiaries which amounted to PLN 46 thousand.

The effective tax rate for the period of 12 months ended 31 December 2016 equalled 97.78%. Such a high effective tax rate for 2016 has resulted primarily from changes in impairment write-downs recognized on our investments in subsidiary companies (a total increase by PLN 8,465 thousand) which have significantly decreased the amount of our pre-tax profit, but are not treated as tax-deductible expenses.

The difference between our effective tax rate and the statutory corporate income tax rate of 19% resulted primarily from permanent differences such as tax-exempt dividends (PLN 849 thousand), deduction of taxes already paid by our subsidiaries on their dividend distributions (PLN 110 thousand), tax-exempt income (reversal of an impairment write-down on investments amounting to PLN 912 thousand), as well as non-tax-deductible expenses (recognition of an impairment write-down on investments amounting to PLN 2,520 thousand). The above amounts represent the impact of particular events on income tax.

Reconciliation of corporate income tax payable on pre-tax profit at the statutory tax rate, with corporate income tax computed at the Company's effective tax rate:

Pre-tax profit	22,164	856
Statutory corporate income tax rate	19%	19%
Corporate income tax computed at the statutory tax rate	(4,211)	(163)
Non-tax-deductible expenses, of which:	(2,045)	(2,545)

Adjustments to the prior years' current income tax	(12)	-
Utilization of tax-deductible losses	-	-
Corporate income tax at the effective tax rate of 10.53% in 2017, and 97.78% in 2016	(2,333)	(837)

Tax exempt income amounting to PLN 1,438 thousand in 2017 and PLN 849 thousand in 2016 corresponds to dividends received from the European Union countries, which are exempted from taxation under Art. 22 of the Corporate Income Tax Act. Whereas, the deduction of dividend income tax paid by subsidiaries amounting to PLN 2,497 thousand in 2017 and PLN 110 thousand in 2016 is related to our subsidiaries, dividends from which are taxable in Poland, but which had already paid income taxes in their countries (tax deduction pursuant to Art. 20 of the Corporate Income Tax Act).

7. Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share are computed by dividing net profit for the reporting period by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding during that financial year.

Both during the reporting period and the comparable period, there were no instruments that could potentially dilute basic earnings per share.

The table below presents net profits and numbers of shares used for the calculation of basic and diluted earnings per share:

ASEE CROATIA

ASEE Croatia was created by merging our four subsidiaries based in Croatia: Arbor Informatika d.o.o., Logos d.o.o., Biro Data Servis d.o.o. and EŽR.

History of acquisitions in Croatia

On 20 December 2007, ASEE S.A. concluded an agreement for the acquisition of a 60% stake in Logos d.o.o. and a 70% stake in Arbor Informatika d.o.o. The control over Arbor Informatika d.o.o. was obtained on 22 January 2008; whereas, Logos d.o.o. has been controlled as of 8 April 2008.

The remaining non-controlling interests in these companies, i.e. 40% of shares in Logos d.o.o. and 30% of shares in Arbor Informatika d.o.o., were acquired by ASEE S.A. in 2009, in each case by conversion of those shares into shares of ASEE S.A. Following such swap transactions, ASEE S.A. has become the owner of 100% of shares in both the companies.

On 4 January 2010, the subsidiary Logos d.o.o. was renamed as Asseco SEE d.o.o. (ASEE Croatia). Concurrently, the merger of ASEE Croatia (as the taking-over company) with Arbor Informatika d.o.o. (as the acquired company) was registered.

Afterwards, ASEE S.A. acquired a 100% stake in Biro Data Servis d.o.o. (BDS) under an agreement signed on 13 September 2010. The merger of ASEE Croatia with BDS was registered on 3 January 2011.

In the period of 12 months ended 31 December 2013, we recognized an impairment write-down, decreasing the value of our investment in ASEE Croatia by PLN 4,800 thousand. Such write-down was recognized due to lower than expected financial performance of that company.

On 23 October 2013, ASEE S.A. acquired 100% of shares in the company EŽ Računalstvo 2013 d.o.o. seated in Zagreb, Croatia. The consideration for the shares has been divided into two portions. The first instalment amounting to EUR 2,500 thousand (of which EUR 2,362 thousand due to the seller and EUR 138 thousand for the share capital increase) was paid on the date of signing the share acquisition agreement. The second instalment depended on the acquired company's financial results and finally amounted to EUR 402 thousand (PLN 1,686 thousand). The total value of investment recognized on this transaction amounted to PLN 12,287 thousand.

On 2 January 2014, a merger of ASEE Croatia (the taking-over company) and EŽR Croatia (the acquired company) was registered. Following the conducted mergers, the total value of our investments in Croatia reached PLN 118,167 thousand, net of impairment write-downs.

On 19 September 2017, a new company called Payten Croatia was officially separated from ASEE Croatia. The former value of our investment in ASEE Croatia has been divided in the following proportions: PLN 56,783 thousand to ASEE Croatia, and PLN 66,184 thousand to Payten Croatia. Such division corresponded to the share of fair value of each of these companies that was estimated on the basis of their discounted cash flows.

In 2010, taking into account the audited consolidated financial statements of ASEE Kosovo for the year 2009, we finally completed the purchase price allocation process, which resulted in reducing the value of this investment by PLN 388 thousand. Whereas, in the first half of 2011, we recognized an impairment write-down on our Kosovo investment, decreasing its value by PLN 6,033 thousand, because the achieved financial results were weaker than expected. In the period of 12 months ended 31 December 2013, the above-mentioned write-down was reversed entirely as the company's earnings improved. In the period of 12 months ended 31 December 2014, due to the expectation of weaker financial performance of ASEE Kosovo, we have again decided to write down the value of this investment by PLN 5,120 thousand. In 2016, we recognized additional impairment write-downs on our investment in ASEE Kosovo in the amount of PLN 4,000 thousand as at 30 June 2016 and in the amount of PLN 5,000 thousand as at 31 December 2016, due to lower than expected financial performance of that company and on the basis of conducted impairment tests. Impairment testing of investments

At the end of every reporting period, ASEE S.A. carries out a valuation of its assets concerning possible impairment.

We estimated the recoverable amount of all of our investments in subsidiaries as at 31 December 2017.

The recoverable amount of investments in subsidiaries as at 31 December 2017 was determined on the basis of their value in use, applying the forecasted free cash flow to firm (FCFF) based on the financial forecasts approved by our management personnel. The residual value was determined assuming no growth of the achieved margins after the forecast period.

The discount rate applied to determine the present value of expected future cash flows was equivalent to the estimated weighted average cost of capital for each individual company. Particular components of the discount rate were determined taking into account the market values of risk-free interest rates, the beta coefficient that was leveraged to reflect the market debt-equity structure, as well as the expected market yield.

The table below presents the basic assumptions concerning the discount rate and sales revenue growth as adopted in the testing model prepared as at 31 December 2017:

Financial Statements of Asseco South Eastern Europe S.A.
for the year ended 31 December 2017

31 Dec. 2017	Discount rate	Sales revenue growth rate
	applied in the model	applied in the model
ASEE B&H	9.73%	6.04%
ASEE Bulgaria	7.72%	3.98%
ASEE Croatia	8.23%	5.22%
Payten Croatia	8.23%	4.46%
ASEE Montenegro	8.59%	0.10%
ASEE Kosovo	9.94%	4.86%
ASEE Macedonia	8.78%	6.65%
ASEE Romania	10.03%	9.18%
ASEE Serbia	9.03%	3.49%
ASEE Slovenia	7.47%	-3.47%
ASEE Turkey	18.59%	19.12%

In the case of ASEE Kosovo, taking into account the recognized write-down and adopted assumptions, the carrying value of this investment is equal to its recoverable amount. Any increase in the applied discount rate or decrease in the assumed revenue growth rate might result in further write-downs on our investment in ASEE Kosovo.

In the case of ASEE Romania, the investment's recoverable amount would have been equal to its carrying value if the discount rate applied in the model was increased by 2.2 pp with other assumptions remaining constant, or if the revenue growth rate was decreased by 1.7 pp with other assumptions remaining constant. As at 31 December 2017, the excess of the recoverable amount of our investment in ASEE Romania over its carrying value equalled PLN 35 million.

The table below presents the basic assumptions concerning the discount rate and sales revenue growth as adopted in the testing model prepared as at 31 December 2016:

31 Dec. 2016	Discount rate	Sales revenue growth rate
	applied in the model	applied in the model

ASEE Turkey	7.85%	10.83%

In the case of ASEE Kosovo and ASEE Bulgaria, taking into account the recognized write-downs and adopted assumptions, the carrying values of these investments are equal to their recoverable amounts.

In the case of ASEE Croatia, we have reversed an impairment write-down of PLN 4,800 thousand that was recognized in the prior years. The investment's recoverable amount would be equal to its carrying value if the discount rate applied in the model was increased by 1.2 pp with other assumptions remaining constant, or if the revenue growth rate was decreased by 0.9 pp with other assumptions remaining constant. As at 31 December 2016, following the above-mentioned reversal of the write-down, the excess of the recoverable amount of our investment in ASEE Croatia over its carrying value equalled PLN 16.85 million.

In the case of ASEE Romania, the investment's recoverable amount would have been equal to its carrying value if the discount rate applied in the model was increased by 1.3 pp with other assumptions remaining constant, or if the revenue growth rate was decreased by 0.94 pp with other assumptions remaining constant. As at 31 December 2016, the excess of the recoverable amount of our investment in ASEE Romania over its carrying value equalled PLN 26 million.

Any reasonable modification of the key assumptions adopted in the valuation model of our investments in other subsidiaries should not indicate a necessity of recognizing any impairment charges.

The sales revenue growth rate specified in the tables above was calculated as the compound annual growth rate (CAGR), this is an average annual growth rate over the analyzed period, assuming that each year-on-year increase is added to the next period's base.

27. Share-based payment plan

On 23 June 2017, Asseco Poland S.A. and managers of ASEE Group companies signed agreements for the acquisition of shares in ASEE S.A. The total number of ASEE shares covered by this plan is 2,221,356, representing 4.28% of the company's share capital. Members of the Management Board of ASEE S.A. as well as parties related through Members of the Management Board of ASEE S.A. acquired 1,572,424 shares in total. The remaining 648,932 shares were acquired by the management staff of subsidiary companies of ASEE Group.

As a result of these transactions, the shareholding of Asseco Poland S.A. in ASEE S.A. dropped from 55.34% to 51.06%. The above-mentioned agreements constitute an equity-settled share-based payment transaction as defined by IFRS 2.

The purchase rights were vested on 23 June 2017. The acquisition price was set at PLN 10.89 per share. As at the acquisition date, the market price per share equalled PLN 12.60. According to the concluded agreements, the managers shall exercise all the rights attached to shares acquired (dividend rights, voting rights, etc.) since the shares acquisition date, i.e. as of 23 June 2017. The consideration for the shares shall be paid in eight annual instalments till 31 July 2024. The right to pay the acquisition price in instalments is granted to persons participating in this plan provided they continue to serve in a managerial position at the Group and do not violate any material conditions of the agreement (among others, make timely payments according to the schedule, establish a pledge on shares acquired, refrain from selling these shares during the lock-up period, etc.). The managers are not allowed to sell these shares over a lock-up period of 2 years in relation to 50% of shares and 3 years for the remaining 50% of shares. The managers shall be entitled to make an earlier payment for shares acquired at the agreed price of PLN 10.89 per share, except for shares being subject to the lock-up obligation. Therefore, over a period of 2 years from the date of concluding the agreement, payments for shares acquired must be made in accordance with the agreed schedule. Hence, after 2 years have passed and still before the lapse of 3 years, the managers can make an early payment for 50% of shares at maximum. Upon expiry of the 3-year period, early payment can be made for all shares acquired. An unpaid portion of the selling price shall be secured by establishing a pledge on the shares of each buyer.

The agreements also provide for put and call options, enabling the parties to resell or repurchase any unpaid shares.

The fair value of this share-based incentive plan has been estimated as the sum of the discount between the shares market price on the transaction date and their actual acquisition price, and the valuation of put options measured using the Black-Scholes Merton model. The total fair value of the plan as at the rights vesting date amounts to PLN 5,642 thousand for the Group, of which PLN 2,459 thousand is applicable to ASEE S.A. The incentive plan costs will be accounted for, along with the corresponding increase in equity, as costs of employee benefits and recognized in the financial results of ASEE S.A. and ASEE Group for the years 2017-2020.

The fair value of equity instruments awarded under the incentive plan has been measured based on the following assumptions:

Market price of 1 share of ASEE on the acquisition date	PLN 12.60
Acquisition price of 1 share	PLN 10.89
Expected share price volatility	25.61%
Risk-free interest rate	2.25%
Dividend yield	3.81%
Employee turnover ratio	12.0%

The expected share price volatility of 25.61% has been computed based on historical quotes of our shares in the period of two years preceding the date of the shares sale transaction, taking into account their average closing prices.

The risk-free interest rate has been assumed in correspondence to the interest offered on three-year Treasury bills, equalling 2.25%.

The dividend yield has been determined on the basis of dividend amounting to PLN 0.48 per share that was paid out to the shareholders of ASEE S.A. from the company's net profit for the year 2016.

The employee turnover ratio has been estimated based on historical data for the years 2015-2017 and updated with current changes in the employment of persons participating in the incentive plan.

The options exercise period has been set at 2 years in relation to 50% of shares and 3 years for the remaining 50% of shares. The options exercise period has been correlated with the lock-up period applicable to the sale of shares, lasting 2 or 3 years.

The costs of share-based payment plan disclosed in the financial statements of ASEE S.A. for the year ended 31 December 2017 amounted to PLN 528 thousand. In correspondence, this transaction was recognized as a separate item of the Company's equity, in the same amount as disclosed in remuneration costs.

The standalone financial statements present the costs related to the acquisition of 1,003,442 shares, including 966,942 shares acquired by Piotr Jeleński, CEO of ASEE S.A., and 30,000 shares acquired by Marcin Rulnicki, Member of the Management Board of ASEE S.A. In the financial statements of ASEE S.A. for the year ended 31 December 2017, such costs amounted to PLN 524 thousand.

213	203

29. Capital management

The primary objective of the Company's capital management is to maintain a favourable credit rating and a safe level of capital ratios in order to support the Company's business operations and maximize shareholder value.

The Company actively manages its capital structure and makes necessary adjustments in response to the changing economic conditions. In order to maintain or adjust its capital structure, the Company may recommend the amount of dividend payment, return some capital to its shareholders, or issue new shares. ASEE may also decide to use bank loans or trade credits for financing of its operations.

During the last two years ended 31 December 2017 and 31 December 2016, we did not introduce any changes to our objectives, policies and processes adopted in this area.

30. Objectives and principles of financial risk management

ASEE S.A. is exposed to a number of risks arising either from the macroeconomic situation of the countries where the Company holds its investments as well as from the microeconomic situation in individual companies. The main external factors that may have an adverse impact on the Company's financial performance are: (i) fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates versus the Polish zloty, and (ii) changes in official interest rates. The financial results are also indirectly affected by the pace of GDP growth, value of public orders for IT solutions, level of capital expenditures made by enterprises, and the inflation rate.

Credit risk

The Company concludes transactions only with reputable companies which have good credit ratings. All customers who wish to trade on credit terms are subject to the procedures of preliminary verification of their creditworthiness. Furthermore, current monitoring of receivables makes it possible to eliminate the risk of uncollectible receivables almost entirely.

In relation to other financial assets, such as cash and cash equivalents, the Company's credit risk results from the contracting party's inability to settle their payments, whereas the maximum exposure to such risk is limited to the carrying value of such assets.

There is no particular concentration of credit risk in any segment of the Company's operations.

Foreign currency risk

The currency used for presentation of the Company's results is the Polish zloty (PLN). Because our subsidiaries conduct business operations in countries with the functional currencies other than our presentation currency, the Company is exposed to changes in such foreign currency exchange rates both with respect to the dividends received from our subsidiaries, and the planned acquisitions.

The analysis of sensitivity of our trade receivables, loans receivable, other receivables, cash at foreign currency bank accounts and other financial assets, as well as liabilities under bank loans and trade payables, to fluctuations in the exchange rates of the US dollar against the Polish zloty, indicates that the Company will incur a potential loss of PLN 607 thousand if the dollar depreciates 10% versus our functional currencies. Likewise, if the euro depreciates 10% against the zloty, the Company will potentially lose PLN 1,327 thousand. Hence, if both the dollar and euro were 10% weaker against the zloty, the Company's financial results would deteriorate by a total of PLN 1,934 thousand. Conversely, if the dollar and euro appreciated by 10% versus our functional currencies, the Company would recognize an additional financial gain of PLN 1,934 thousand.

The Company has adopted a policy of hedging its open foreign currency positions with forward currency derivatives.

Financial liquidity risk

The Company monitors its risk to a shortage of funds using a recurring liquidity planning tool. This tool takes into account the maturity of both financial investments and financial assets (e.g. accounts receivable) and projected cash flows from operations.

The Company's objective is to maintain a balance between continuity and flexibility of financing by using various sources of funds.

The tables below present the ageing analysis of the Company's trade payables, as well as liabilities under bank loans and derivative instruments as at 31 December 2017 and 31 December 2016, by maturity based on contractual undiscounted payments:
